

The Baltimore Bibliophiles

A Literary Miscellany - May 29, 2020

Binnie Syril Braunstein, Editor

Virtual Book Fairs!

Susannah Horrom, of Kelmscott Bookshop, just sent me a bitlink (see below) for the email they just sent out about two upcoming virtual fairs – both NEXT week. Both are free to “attend!”

https://bit.ly/Virtual_Book_Fairs

From University of Maryland Special Collections: latest newsletter!

<https://hornbakelibrary.wordpress.com/2020/05/29/mpt-crabs/>

The title of the post is: Live from Baltimore: Maryland Public Television’s Crabs.

I have asked UMD Special Collections for information on how to subscribe to the Hornbake Library newsletter. I will provide that information when I receive it.

Literary Hub

Provides the best from the literary internet every day. Subscribe (free!) and get a constant flow of literary tidbits in your inbox. <https://lithub.com/about-literary-hub/>

Library Link of the Day

The Library Link of the Day provides a daily link for keeping up to date with the library profession. Destinations include the latest library news, good reads on the web, and other valuable resources that a library knowledge worker should know about. The link is presented without commentary. Links always lead to free content, but sometimes require registration (also free).

Publishers Weekly

PW has many free newsletters. Subscribe by going to the website

<https://www.publishersweekly.com/> and clicking to the link for “free newsletters” on the upper right part of the screen. Also, during the Covid 19 crisis, PW is allowing free digital access to their magazine, archive and website. If you go to the main PW website, you will get a pop-up with a sign up for free digital access during the Covid 19 crisis.